Will Germany Be Torn By New Labor Troubles?

Amsterdam, April 21.-The German Socialist party in Austria has decided that work shall be stopped on May 1 throughout the country, and that demonstrations in favor of peace shall be held. The Telegraff carries threatening accounts of probable disorders in the central powers.

Paris, April 21.-Although there will be no May Day demonstrations in France this year, due to the every-increasing patriotism of the general working class, well-founded reports from the central powers presage a general suspension of work and demands for peace

Last year general strikes occurred on May Day throughout Germany and Austria in protest against the militarist war policy and the food shortage. Eight strikers were killed in riots at Mainz and a number of strike leaders were executed in various parts of Germany.

With the constantly increasing shortage of foodstuffs in the central powers and the terribly large casualty list, accompanying the last and admittedly futile drive on the Western front, military and economic experts here predict a practical internal convulsion in Germany and Austria on the first day
